

2-10-2015

BFS News Online

Georgia Southern University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/art-news-online>

Part of the Arts and Humanities Commons

Recommended Citation

Georgia Southern University, "BFS News Online" (2015). Art Department News Blog. 121.
<https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/art-news-online/121>

This newsletter is brought to you for free and open access by the Art Department News Publications at Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. It has been accepted for inclusion in Art Department News Blog by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.

Hines featured in Huffington Post

February 10, 2015

BFSDoArt Photography Professor, Jessica Hines, was recently featured in the Arts & Culture section of The Huffington Post.

These Bewitching Photos Of Rainbow Swamps Reveal The Magic Lurking In Mire

Originally from The Huffington Post

By Priscilla Frank

February 9, 2015

"Photographer Jessica Hines built a house on a swamp in southeast Georgia, not far from Savannah. Her reasoning was simple: "It is home to a large number of animal species and seeing the natural world everyday from my windows makes me happy," she explained to The Huffington Post. It's not hard to see why.

There is, however, something uniquely enchanting about Hines' habitat. Every January and February during sunny days, a film of rainbow light stretches across the swamp's surface. The colors result from plant oils and pollen forming a monomolecular film that reflects and refracts a spectrum of light. Hines compares it to the colors seen on a soap bubble. When Hines noticed this natural phenomenon, she purchased a pair of chest-high waders to photograph the colors at ground level, at their most intense..."

\(Continue Reading\)

Spirit Stories #19, Jessica Hines

READ MORE

These Bewitching Photos Of Rainbow Swamps Reveal The Magic Lurking In Mire
JessicaHines.com

Posted in Faculty & Staff, Noteworthy

Tags: Jessica Hines

BFSDoArt Hosts Art Visitation Day

February 10, 2015

On February 6, the Betty Foy Sanders Department of Art hosted an Art Visitation Day in conjunction with the Office of Admissions' Open House. February's event welcomed its largest group of prospective students so far. These 31 students and their families were able spend the day visiting with faculty, staff, and students while touring the facilities. The department will host their final visitation day for the academic year on Friday, March 27, 2015.

LEARN MORE →

Posted in Events, Noteworthy.

Tags: 2D, 3D, BFA, Ceramics, GCM, Graphic Design, Jewelry, Noteworthy, Painting, Photography.

Alumna featured artist at Mudfire in Atlanta

February 10, 2015

Mudfire Presents Resident Amy Roberson

Amy (Bryan) Roberson, 3D Studio Arts alumna, is a continuing resident artist at Mudfire. She is from Ellijay, Georgia, a small town in the foothills of the Appalachians. In 2013, she received her Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree from Georgia Southern University and soon joined the Mudfire family.

"Lamp," Amy Roberson

Amy's work is inspired by the entanglement of youth and adulthood, visualized through mid century ideals and rave culture influences. Though these symbols of adulthood and youth seem distantly separated, their meaning and representations are combined in each piece to show the impossibility of their division. While the colorful influence of each can easily be seen, it takes a moment to understand the expectations and rewards each side involves. Mid century aesthetics represent many forces ranging from concern with public image, to the unattainability of the ideal lifestyle. Rave culture is idealistic in its own sense, the symbolism of youth and excitement is joyful, but in reality it is only an escape from the everyday norms we all create. The work in this exhibition shows the beginning of the exploration between these two symbolic forces and all they represent.

\(Continue Reading\)

READ MORE

Exhibition opens February 14, 2015 at 6PM

Gallery Open Noon to 8pm Daily

Closed on Tuesdays

Shop Online

Posted in Alumni Success, Noteworthy

Tags: 3D, BFA, Ceramics